COSENTINO DEKTON®

H2O ANNIVERSARY TABLE

Our most iconic table in collaboration with Cosentino Dekton®

H2O is a Bulo classic collection designed by the pre-eminent Belgian architecture and design partners, Bataille & Ibens. Influenced by Mies van der Rohe's Barcelona Pavilion, the partners designed H2O as a return to a simple table concept as a plane on four legs. To suit multiple functions and modular adaptations, the table was made adjustable to 4 heights by way of a steel and aluminum frame attached to cross-shaped aluminum legs, thereby also earning the option of a beautifully cantilevered top.

Celebrating three decades of constant production, the H2O table series has become a true icon in the eyes of architects, designers and our customers worldwide. To celebrate this milestone Bulo has explored unique top materials to complement the architecture of the table base. Our passion for sustainable materials inspired a collaboration with Cosentino's carbon neutral collection, Dekton®. This sustainable porcelain material is more durable than stone surfaces, withstanding of tension and weak points, and has zero porosity so it's stain, abrasion and scratch resistant. It's also softer and warmer to the touch than stone materials.

Exhibited in Bulo's Neocon 2025 showroom in Dekton® Nebu and Bulo's classic satin solid aluminum base.
